

PETER VASSALO

Peter Vassalo is the Counsel for Special Litigation in the Division of Occupational Safety and Health. In this role, Peter focuses on enforcement-related matters, which includes the oversight of OSHA's egregious enforcement program, major corporate-wide settlement agreements, and other significant enforcement actions. Peter is also the point person with respect to the enforcement of OSHA's Process Safety Management standard, which includes the development of enforcement policy with respect to this standard, as well as serving as an instructor at the OSHA Training Institute. Peter received his BA from the University of Michigan in 1993, and his JD from Case Western Reserve University in 1996.
