

AIDA VINDELL

Aida Vindell is the Managing Attorney in the Domestic Violence Program at DC Volunteer Lawyers Project, where she represents victims in protection order cases. She is a native Spanish speaker and a licensed attorney in the District and Maryland. Before joining DCVLP, Aida was a Senior Attorney at the Children's Law Center as a Guardian ad litem where she represented children in abuse and neglect proceedings and represented plaintiffs in custody matters. Before that she was a Staff Attorney at Ayuda, where she represented domestic violence and sexual assault survivors in protection order, custody and divorce proceedings. Prior to that Aida practiced immigration, family, civil and criminal defense law at a boutique law firm in Rockville, Maryland. Aida earned her Bachelor of Public Administration from Florida International University and her J.D. from the University of the District of Columbia.