

JESSICA SANDOVAL

Jessica Sandoval, MPA, leads the Unlock the Box Campaign, a ten-year campaign to end solitary confinement in U.S. jails and prisons. She has over 25 years' experience campaigning for change in both the youth and adult legal systems, she uses her organizing and advocacy expertise to develop and administer strategies and tools to support state campaigns aligned with the mission of the "stop solitary" movement. Prior to joining the Unlock the Box Campaign, Mrs. Sandoval served as the Vice President and Deputy Director of the Campaign for Youth Justice, where she was responsible for strategic planning, including analysis and implementation of campaign priorities. Mrs. Sandoval graduated with a Master of Public Administration from the University of Colorado at Denver. She received a Bachelor of Science degree in Human Services, from Metropolitan State College of Denver where she recently received a distinguished alumni award.